Mayor's Statement on City's First Homicide of 2014

STAMFORD, CT – Mayor David Martin released the following statement upon learning the news that resident William James was shot and killed in Stamford's South End yesterday evening. The Mayor was given a full briefing by police officials earlier today.

"The homicide last night in the South End is one that we take very seriously and I am saddened by the news. I have full confidence that the Stamford Police will conduct a rigorous investigation into the incident, which appears to have been an isolated event."

"On Monday, I will be meeting with Police Department officials, the local district representatives and neighborhood leaders to listen to the community and discuss current and future policing in the area."
